FIGHT IN HOUSE FAR FROM END

DECLARATION MADE BY "INSURGENT EMISSARY."

Want Entirely New Methods of Doing Business—Inauguration Change Fight in House—Other News From National Capital.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Representative Hayes of California, "insurgent emissary," was called to the white house this afternoon. Further than the remark he brought the information which the president requested Hayes would not discuss the visit. He declared the "insurgent" fight in the house was far from an end; that while the regulars had conceded the right of caucus prior to important legislation rather than forcing matters through with a special rule, this was not altogether satisfactory to the progressives who want entirely new methods of doing business.

Conservation Bills.
Taft's bills on various branches of conservation, prepared by Ballinger, were discussed today in a meeting of the house committee on public lands. Chairman Mondell explicated upon the reasons for his declaration to introduce the measure in the house. Mondell objects to the Ballinger bill for classification of public lands as entirely unfeasible. Some others he regards impracticable. There are half a dozen of these conservation bills. Some other members of the committee than Mondell may introduce them.

Adverse reception of the president's conservation measure in this committee is a matter of large interest. They are the first of the administration measures to reach the stage where there is strong opposition.

Corporation Bill.
To put all corporations squarely on a footing with national banks, as far as assurance of solvency to stockholders and bondholders is concerned, Representative Mann of Illinois today introduced a bill authorizing corporations engaged in interstate and foreign commerce to be registered in the bureau of corporations of the department of commerce and labor. The measure makes the government's certificate of registration an earnest of the government's examination and requires federal examination as to solvency.

For Old Age.
The subject of relief for men and women who grow old in the government service was taken up in earnest today at a joint session of the senate and house committees on civil service. Members of the civil service retirement association declared before the committee they could not stand reductions in salaries to further the plan for payment of annuities. They appealed to congress for retirement for old age or disability and for compensation of their families in case of death.

House.
The fight between two committees over jurisdiction of the measure proposing a constitutional amendment to change the presidential inauguration from March 4 to the last Thursday in April resulted in the house to day recommitting the matter to the judiciary committee. This was temporary defeat of advocates of the Henry resolution, but Henry is endeavoring to reach an understanding with Chairman Gaines of the committee on election of president and vice president, which he reported almost an identical measure. The judiciary committee will report the Henry resolution back to the house within ten days. The battle was fought amid confusion and parliamentary tactics.

The house received the report of the territories committee recommending statehood for New Mexico and Arizona.

Chairman Tawney of the appropriation committee, announced he will try to bring up the urgent deficiency appropriation bill Monday.

After eulogies by a number of members on the late Senator Shoup, of Idaho, the house passed a concurrent resolution according Shoup a statue just placed in statuary hall of the capitol.

Democrats Selected.
Representative Bailey of Illinois and James of Kentucky were tonight selected nominees for Democratic members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee. The selection was made at a Democratic caucus in session two hours.

HAVE RESIGNED.
Chicago, Jan. 15.—Charles L. Abbott and Francis G. Hancock, assistants to United States District Attorney Sims, and Luther M. Walter, attorney connected with the interstate commerce commission, it is announced, have resigned.

ARREST OF WOMAN

Negress Implicated by Confession in Murder of Mrs. Gunness and Family.

Laporte, Ind., Jan. 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, arrested today as the result of the confession of Ray Lamphere today, was released later on $500 bond.

The negress, who was implicated by the confession in the murder of Mrs. Bella Gunness and her family, was questioned by Prosecutor Smith. She denied all of Lamphere's charges. The grand jury will be in session next week, when it is expected there will be an investigation into the negress' alleged connection with the death of Mrs. Gunness and children.

The confession made in May, 1909, by Julius Truelson of New York, who is serving a term for forgery in the Texas state prison, may yet assume importance. Truelson claimed to have fired the Gunness farm before the fire and he told much about the case. For a time officers were inclined to believe he was an accomplice, but later it was concluded he was a romantic and told the story in order to be taken from Texas to Laporte. It is possible Truelson will be brought here. There are features of his confession bearing striking resemblance to the Lamphere confession made public by Schnell.

CONVICT GETS RICHES.

New York, Jan. 15.—J. Edward Boehm, who is serving a seven year sentence in Sing Sing, may fall heir to the rich estate of his uncle, J. C. Lounsbury, who died in St. Paul last January in a squall. Boehm had a reputation as an art connoisseur and expert of precious stones and in 1907 obtained jewelry valued at nearly a quarter of a million from New York dealers, disappeared and was arrested in San Francisco a year afterward.

DISPUTE BELONGS TO CLUB.

Commission or League Has no Right to Interfere.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—Neither National League nor national commission has a right to interfere in a dispute between a club and its manager, is the contention of President Fogel of the Philadelphia club in the matter of the salary dispute between his club and William Murray, the deposed manager. Fogel asserts that contracting with a man to manage a club does not bring him under the jurisdiction of the league or commission as in cases of players. Murray's contract with the former owners guaranteed him $15,000 for the next two years. Fogel and associates refuse to pay this.

NO THOUGHT OF MERGER.

Lyndonville, Vt., Jan. 15.—President Vall of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, when informed of the denial to day by officials of the Postal Telegraph company that the change of name of the latter company had any connection of any plan for a merger with the Bell Telephone company or Western Union, said: "That is absolutely the truth. There is no thought of such a merger."

DEFEAT FOR STEAD.

Federal Court Has Jurisdiction in C. & St. L. Rate Case.

Springfield, Jan. 15.—Judge Humphrey in the federal court to day overruled the demurrer of Attorney General Stead in the case involving the constitutionality of the 20-cent fare law, and directed Stead to file an answer to the petition of receivers of the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis Railway company within ten days. The receivers had procured a temporary injunction restraining enforcement of the 2 cent law. The attorney general contended the federal court had no jurisdiction in a case where all parties are residents of one state.

TRYING TO ARRANGE PEACE.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Negotiations for peace are said to be on again between Nicaraguan revolutionists and President Madrid. According to correspondence between Madrid and Estrada, the text of which was sent to Washington by Admiral Kimball, a new commissioner will probably be appointed to meet the Madrid representative at Greytown.

SUTTON CHALLENGED.

New York, Jan. 15.—Willie Hoppe challenges George Sutton for the 181 ball nine billiard championship. The match to consist of 1,500 points, played in blocks of 500, probably in Chicago.

CONVICTED OF MURDER.

Milwaukee, Jan. 15.—Ward E. Hedges, charged with murdering his wife Sept. 3, was convicted to night. Hedges was on trial several weeks.

FORWARDING PLANS MADE

PREPARING TO ATTACK GREYTOWN AND MANAGUA.

Revolutionists Have Large and Well Equipped Army—Zelaya Decides to Leave Mexico—Will Join Wife at Brussels, Belgium.

Bluefields, Jan. 8. (via New Orleans) Jan. 15.—Rapid forwarding plans for attacking Greytown and Managua are indicated by increased rumors of conscription. Correspondents have been informed the success of the provisional government's plans depend upon the secrecy in carrying them out. The bulk of provisional troops which fought at Recreo is now at Chile on the Mico river, or beyond.

An advance guard of 400 of General Mena's men occupied Acopya without opposition. A fight had been expected there, but Mena's scouting party found the town unguarded and took possession. Mena himself returned to Rama, ill of ptomaine poisoning.

Estrada, using military telegraph lines, is directing operations from Rama. The second detail of the plan includes the capture of Greytown by General Matuly. After Greytown, Matuly is expected to join forces with other troops at Acopya. Other more interesting features of the scheme it would be unfair to publish.

Matuly's force of 1,000 men will include 600 prisoners captured at Recreo, but who swore allegiance to the provisional government at the first opportunity. Spies lived among them while they were being subverted by the Red Cross fund. Their loyalty to Estrada is now unquestioned.

Three thousand extra rifles, with ammunition, have been sent to the interior to arm people of Chentales, who expected to join the provisional forces. Scores of these recruits are already enlisting. The army which will carry the provisional government's banner against Managua will be the largest by far and best equipped since Zelaya, in the early years of his administration led an army of 12,000 against Costa Rica. General Chamorro, chief of field artillery, will have 600 well fed, well equipped men. The military telephone and telegraph will keep different divisions in touch with each other and Estrada. A hospital corps of 200 will care for the wounded.

The horrible trails along the Mico river, which almost wrecked the Zelaya army, have been avoided by the provisionals, who used boats as far as Chile. From Chile to La Libertad there is much bush to be hewed through, but from Acopya and La Libertad there are trails of width and solidity approaching the utility of real roads.

Zelaya to Leave Mexico.

Mexico City, Jan. 15.—After having leased and taken possession of a residence here, Zelaya today suddenly announced he is going to Belgium as soon as he can make arrangements. This decision is said to be due to the receipt of a telegram from Mrs. Zelaya, now at Managua, who decided to go direct to her old home at Brussels, instead of coming here to live. Her decision is said to meet Zelaya's approval.

TO AID GIRL STRIKERS.

Daughter of President Taft Takes Part in Conference.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—Miss Helen, the daughter of President Taft, and ten of her girl friends of Bryn Mawr college, to day participated in a conference with prominent society women, wherein plans were formulated to aid several thousand wild shirt-waist workers on strike in Philadelphia. How prominent a part Miss Taft took was not learned, but the fact she attended has given renewed hope to the strikers. The nature of the plans made was not given out. Manufacturers want the girls to return to work pending arbitration. The strikers' executive committee declined, but will submit this proposal to the meeting of strikers to morrow.

RYAN IN ECUADOR.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Jan. 15.—William Jennings Ryan arrived to day and was greeted warmly by the American colony. He left tonight for Callao, where he will spend a week in Peru.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Nashville, Jan. 15.—Frank Feher, ingested night rider, star witness in the trial of the alleged murderers of Captain Rankin, attempted suicide by poisoning in jail at Dresden, Tenn. He is dangerously ill to night.

FLYING CONTESTS

Aviators Contend With Mud and Stiff Breeze—No Records Broken Yesterday.

Los Angeles, Jan. 15.—Both Paulhan and Curtiss demonstrated the mud running capacities of their airplanes to day by lifting in heavy ground and flying against stiff breeze. The crowd was small on account of rain and the flights confined to speed laps around the course. Paulhan tried to beat Curtiss ten lap record, but failed. Curtiss failed to beat his own one lap record. Willard and Hamilton failed in similar attempts. Miscarol in a Blériot monoplane, made an exhibition flight, using a tail-controller only. In landing the machine tipped, striking the ground and breaking a wing. Miscarol jumped and was hurt.

PINCHOT PRAISED.

New York, Jan. 15.—Praise for Pinchot was the keynote of most speeches delivered to day at a conservation national resources before the Republican club here. "The national forests," said Chief Forester Ayers of New Hampshire, "have been established through the genius and patriotism of Pinchot."

RESIGNS FROM RANJ.

Officials Disapprove of Director's Insurance Transactions.

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 15.—In connection with the state insurance department's endeavor to take over and liquidate the People's Mutual Life Insurance association and league, the resignation was announced to day of Lieut. Gov. Horace White as a director of the First National bank. The insurance department attorney to day asked that the evidence against certain officers of the company be submitted to the grand jury.

Concerning White's resignation, bank directors issued a statement that White had stated that a certain transaction concerning $150,000, passed to the credit of White in the bank, in connection with the People's Mutual Life Insurance association and league, was legal and proper. The board, it was added, disapproved the action and accepted White's resignation.

Hearing on the insurance department's application to take over and liquidate the affairs of the insurance association was concluded to day and the court will announce its decision Tuesday.

FOUND POISON.

Kansas City, Jan. 15.—The attorney of the Swope estate to night confirmed the rumor that poison was found in the stomach of Chrisman Swope and that this caused the apoplexy on the body of his millionaire uncle and added an arrest may be made to morrow.

FIGHT AT SALT LAKE.

Salt Lake City, Jan. 15.—"Tex" Rickard tonight positively announced the Jeffries-Johnson fight will be held in this city on the fourth of July. In event of interference by state authorities he offers to surrender the entire purse to representatives of the principles.

SHERIFF DAVIS' CASE.

Cairo, Jan. 15.—Former Sheriff Davis instituted quo warranto proceedings in the circuit court to day to gain back the office from which Governor Deeney deposed him on account of the double lynching.

SNOW BOUND TWO DAYS.

Madison, Jan. 15.—After being snow bound near Dubuque two days the Illinois basketball team arrived to night and was defeated by Wisconsin 25 to 16.

PRESSMEN WIN.

Denver, Jan. 15.—The morning newspapers will resume publication to morrow. An agreement was signed to night with the pressmen providing for a 20 per cent increase in wages.

DONNELLY LEAVES PEORIA.

Peoria, Jan. 15.—Frank Donnelly, manager of the Peoria Three-Eves team, accepted a similar position with Galveston. His contract was signed a week ago by the Galveston club and was accepted to day.

RIVER FULL OF ICE.

Cairo, Jan. 15.—The Mississippi was so full of heavy ice the Iron Mountain and Cotton Belt railroads were unable to transfer by boats between Cairo and Bird's Point.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bobbitt of Chaptin were shopping in the city yesterday.

Mrs. E. L. Bell has returned from Chicago, where she has been enjoying a visit with friends and relatives for the past three weeks.

CANDIDATE FOR SPEAKER

WANTS TO SUCCEED CANNON AS PRESIDING OFFICER.

Representative Diekema of Michigan Announces His Candidacy—Does Not Believe Cannon Will Again Be Candidate for Speaker.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Representative Diekema of Michigan, to day announced his candidacy for speaker of the house to succeed Cannon at the end of the present session. Cannon had announced he would be a candidate for re-election to congress, but has never declared he would again be a candidate for the speakership.

Besides Diekema a number of names of possible speakership candidates have been mentioned, including Walter J. Smith of Iowa, Olmstead of Pennsylvania, and Mann of Illinois.

Diekema does not believe Cannon will again be a candidate for the speakership.

"I am a regular, not an insurgent," said Diekema. "No man could ever give me whiter treatment than Cannon has given and I think he is the fairest presiding officer I ever saw in the chair."

"I believe the next speakership will go to the middle west, not to any man who had long service in congress and had close affiliation with men who have dominated congress. It does not seem possible on the other hand that the speakership will go to any of the present insurgents."

Diekema's announcement was brought out by a direct question put to him whether he would support Cannon for re-election. His reply was he could not, because he is going to be a candidate himself. He has been called by Cannon to preside over the house temporarily three times and served two terms in congress. During his service as speaker of the Michigan house of representatives he never had an appeal from his ruling on any parliamentary question. He has been chairman of the Michigan state central committee ten years. Following his announcement Diekema had a conference with Cannon.

"I am not a candidate for the speakership," said Mann. "I am for 'Uncle Joe' first, last, always. I regard him the very best man for that office. He has been the fairest on the floor and ablest presiding officer."

"He is overlooking the fact that the next house will be Democratic," was Minority Leader Champ Clark's comment on Diekema's announcement.

It was suggested Mann's activity on the floor, his vote to recommit the tariff bill and his position of fearless independence on other party measures might figure in event he sought the speakership; that Olmstead comes from an ultra-high tariff state and that Judge Smith has troubles in his own state delegation.

WILL TALK ABOUT HARDWARE.

Every day during the current year G. S. Gay will have something to say to readers of the Journal about hardware. A column of space has been set aside for his use and his advertisement will appear each day. Few business houses in Morgan county are as well known as "Gay's Reliable Hardware Store" and the patronage of the establishment has increased constantly with passing years. American fence is associated closely in the public mind with this store and many car loads are handled each year. Such a specialty has been made of this line that it is a common thing for farmers who have moved to other states to send back here for their fencing. The word, reliable, is well suited to the Gay store as only dependable lines of hardware are kept in stock and the proprietor is a hardware man of long experience.

NEW SERVICE TO BERMUDA.

New York, Jan. 15.—As a result of the increased tourist travel between New York and Bermuda, the Quebec Steamship Co., today added the new steamship Oceana to its Bermuda service. The Oceana, which formerly belonged to the Hamburg-American line, is much larger than any other steamship ever put in the Bermuda service. During the season she will sail from New York every Saturday, leaving Bermuda on Tuesdays for the return voyage.

Charles G. Rutledge will leave to morrow for St. Louis and from there will go south for a rest of several weeks.

Miss Edna Ramsey, a popular young lady of Murphysville, was visiting friends in the city yesterday.

THOUGHT DEAD FOR TWENTY YEARS

William Delaney of Massachusetts on Sick Bed in Bloomington, Ill., Hospital, Tells Tale Which Reunites Loved Ones After Many Years.

A little drama of life was enacted recently at St. Joseph's hospital in Bloomington when William Delaney, for over twenty years thought dead by his relatives, was found by his brother and sister, although in a very critical condition.

Delaney's home was in Worcester, Mass., where he lived and was married about thirty years ago. Through a misunderstanding he left his wife and two daughters and went to St. Louis, where he invented a patent chimney sweep, from the sales of which he has always supported himself. With the invention he traveled over the state and while introducing it in Bloomington became very sick and was taken to St. Joseph's hospital. Information as to his home and relations was required by the hospital authorities, so that they could be notified in case of serious developments, but to this Delaney strenuously rebelled, finally compromising with Father Weldon, to whom he made a confession, with the understanding that no word should be sent to his relatives until after Christmas, so that their yuletide would not be disturbed.

Shortly after Christmas his sister, Mrs. Fannie Reynolds of Massachusetts, was notified and in turn notified a brother at Milwaukee, who is an editor of an old soldiers' periodical at the Old Soldiers' home in that city, and before long both came to greet and cheer the sick man after twenty years of absence.

Through a newspaper clipping read by some one in his home town Delaney was supposed to have died twenty years ago and the news of his being alive created no little excitement.

STILL A MYSTERY

Cincinnati, Jan. 15.—Two weeks have elapsed since the horribly mutilated body of Miss Anna Lloyd, a young bookkeeper employed by a lumber firm, was found in a vacant lot in Fairmount, and so far the police have been unable to fasten the crime on any of the suspects taken into custody. The failure to unravel the mystery has strengthened the suspicion that Miss Lloyd fell a victim to "Jack the Stranger," the city of Dayton in terror for the last of the series of crimes in Dayton was committed three young women of Cincinnati, including Miss Lloyd, have been strangled to death. Leads may be believed that the Dayton fiend transferred the scene of his operations to this city.

While comparing with the infamous Whitechapel murders of twenty years ago, the Dayton girl murders have no parallel in American crime annals. Altogether five young women were mysteriously murdered in Dayton and the police theory is that all were struck down by the same fiendish hand. All of the victims were of about the same age and social condition, and there were many tangible circumstances to connect the crimes. The first victim was Ada Lantz, whose dead body was found in a vault in the rear of her home in 1901. In 1906, Dona Gilman was assaulted, then strangled to death, and her body thrown in a thickets. In 1907 occurred the murder of Anna Markowitz under similar circumstances. In January, 1909, Mary Foreman was assaulted and strangled to death. A few months later Elizabeth Fulhart, a pretty country girl, who went to Dayton to obtain employment, was strangled to death, apparently by the same fiendish hands, and her body thrown into a cistern.

The police named the supposed murderer "Jack the Stranger," from the fact that all the girls were apparently killed by the clutch of a monster's hand upon the throat. Miss Lloyd evidently met her death in precisely the same manner as did the five Dayton victims and the murderer, if he be "Jack the Stranger," has so far escaped detection as successfully as before.

GAYNOR SPEAKS AT DINNER.

New York, Jan. 15.—Mayor William J. Gaynor delivers the first public address he has made since assuming office at the annual dinner of the Queens County Bar association at the Hotel Astor tonight. In addition to the mayor, the list of speakers includes Augustus Thomas, the playwright and Martin W. Littleton, the lawyer.

Samuel Hyton of Joy Prairie expects to move his family to North Dakota next week where he purchased a farm.

ELECTIONS HELD IN ENGLAND

RESULT OF BALLOTING UP TO SATURDAY NIGHT.

Neither Party in Commanding Position at Present—Indications Are Liberals Will Retain Control With Reduced Majority.

London, Jan. 15.—At the close of the general elections today the standing of the various parties, including uncontested seats, was as follows: Unionists ..... 43 Liberals ..... 37 Laborites ..... 6 Nationalists ..... 5

Unionist gains, 18; Liberal gains, 3; Labor gains over Liberals, 1; no change, 69.

Of the twelve seats contested in London the Liberals held seven and the Unionists five. In the provinces the Unionists gained Southwest Manchester, Stalybridge, Salford, Rochdale, Burnley, two seats in Devonport, Cambridge, Yarmouth, Gloucester, Wolverhampton (west and south), Wednesbury, and two seats in Bath. Liberals won in Manchester (northwest), Darlington and Grimsby. The labor gain was in East Manchester.

The first engagement in the fight for tariff reform, a great navy and supremacy of lords as against free trade, reform of the house lords and home rule ended therefore with neither party in a commanding position. The results of today's polling tend to confirm the forecast that liberals will retain control of the government with a greatly reduced majority. The Unionists gained an encouraging number of seats, although less than twenty-nine which expected to take from the Liberals out of seventy-four balloted for. The popular vote goes strongly against the Liberals.

NEWS FOR COMING WEEK.
Washington, Jan. 15.—Two notable conferences having to do with uniform legislation by the several states, are to be held in Washington during the week. One will be a conference under the auspices of the National Civic Federation, and the other a conference of governors, which will co-operate with the larger gathering. President Taft will attend both gatherings.

Developments in the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy and hearings by the house committee on proposed reform in the interstate commerce laws are also expected to contribute interesting items to the week's news budget sent out from the national capitol.

On Friday, with the coming into operation of the famous Dick law, the militia of the several states will become truly the "National Guard" in all that the term applies. The new law provides that the regularly enlisted, organized and uniformed active militia shall constitute the active militia, and that its organization, armament and discipline shall be the same as that prescribed for the regular army.

Statuary Hall, in the national capitol, where the marble effigy of Gen. Law Wallace was unveiled last week, will be the scene of similar ceremonies again on Wednesday, when the statue of John C. Calhoun will be formally presented to the United States by the state of South Carolina.

The Rockefeller commission for the eradication of the hookworm disease is expected to attend in a body the first national conference for the study of this disease to be held in Atlanta next Tuesday and Wednesday. The attendance will also include state health officials and representatives of medical associations and civic bodies throughout a large section of the south.

The Newfoundland parliament is to assemble Thursday, under Premier Morris. The extension of railroads in the colony will be the principal business to come before the session.

ELECTRICAL SHOW IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—What is pronounced to be the most brilliant display ever seen in America was viewed by the crowds that filled the coliseum this afternoon at the formal opening of Chicago's fifth annual electrical show. The exhibition, which is to continue two weeks, embraces a wide variety of electrical machinery and appliances. The possibilities of electricity in light, locomotion, telegraphy and telephone and the generation and transmission of power for factory and other purposes are illustrated in an interesting manner. One of the most attractive displays is that which shows the progress made in the use of electricity in household work.

FULL PARTICULARS TO BE FILED

Projectors of Electric Line Will Make Known Exact Purposes—Board Feels Favorable to Road.

The question of the granting the Springfield and Jacksonville Electric Railway Co. the right to use the highway in Morgan county for an electric line will soon be before the county commissioners for definite action. In company with representatives of the road the commissioners went over the proposed route Friday, as far as the Sangamon county line. It is understood that the commissioners feel favorable to the project. Though no formal meeting of the commissioners was held Saturday the understanding is that the board has suggested that the company file by next Saturday a document setting for exactly what the company desired in the matter of right of way. The board wishes it stated just how much of the roadway would be used, in what manner it would be maintained, the provisions for crossings and other particulars to the service anticipated. In other words, a full statement is to be made of what the company is asking and what it expects to do.

After this statement is filed the commissioners will then consider the matter for a week and if they desire changes in the company's plans will suggest them. The board will require the operation of the road within one year if the right to use the highway is granted.

MATRIMONIAL

Fries-Hughes.

Friends and acquaintances here will be surprised to learn of the recent marriage of Mrs. Cora Hughes and Henry Fries at San Bernardino, Calif., Jan. 8. Mrs. Hughes is the daughter of Thomas Jackson of this city and since August has been visiting her sisters, Goldie and Rose Jackson and Mrs. Joseph Galt here. Mr. Fries is a native of Pittsburg, Pa., and is the son of a prominent and well to do citizen there. For some time past he has been living at Upland, Calif., and is foreman in one of the large fruit houses there.

Mr. and Mrs. Fries took a short wedding tour through California and are now at home in Upland.

Rigg-Curtis.

Charles M. Rigg of Woodson and Miss Nettie Curtis of Manchester were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. C. R. Morrison at the Brooklyn parsonage.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Curtis, who until recently lived in the Lynnville neighborhood. She is a member of Brooklyn M. E. church and is a young lady of many estimable traits of character. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rigg of Woodson and employed in the tile factory at that place. They will reside in Woodson.

Sperry-Wild.

Charles Roy Sperry and Miss Minnie M. Wild, both of this city, were married Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Centenary parsonage, Rev. J. A. Moseley officiating. Only a few friends witnessed the ceremony. The groom is a son of Charles L. Sperry and is employed at the Steel Bridge factory. They will reside on Dodin avenue.

Enslow-Cawood.

Saturday at 2:30 p. m., William M. Enslow and Miss Bertha Cawood were married by Rev. R. F. Thrapp at 337 East Morgan street, where they will reside. The wedding was a quiet one and witnessed by a limited number of friends. Both the young people are well known here and have many friends who will unite in wishing them all happiness.

NEW LUMBER YARD

Jacksonville to Have Another Enterprise—The Central Lumber Company in Connection with the Central Planing Mill.

For a number of years the Central Planing Mill has been quietly and persistently pursuing its way adding each year to its business and gaining favor with the people, promptness in filling orders and upright dealing coupled with the best work and now a new enterprise is added by the same management as that of the planing mill, a first class lumber yard which will be in the immediate vicinity of the mill on east North street near the first ward school building where a commodious shed has been erected and is rapidly being stocked with all that pertains to an establishment of that kind. Here everything pertaining to such a place will be kept, lumber, shingles, sand, lime, cement, brick and everything needed at that direction for building.

The company will make a specialty of supplying all that enters into the construction of a building and will offer special inducements to persons wanting dimension stuff, timbers of unusual sizes and quality and will secure them on short notice and in a satisfactory manner. They will have all the grades of hard lumber, oak, mahogany, cherry, and other kinds and will be prepared to fill orders in any quantity and in the best manner and at prices that will be attractive.

Small expenses, cash buying and long experience will enable the company to keep an unusually well-selected stock and to make prices which cannot fail to be attractive while the quality of their goods will be above criticism.

The Central Planing Mill will be continued as heretofore and will turn out orders for all kinds of mill work, sash, doors, blinds, cabinet work, store fixtures, stairs, mow posts and in fact everything expected in a first class establishment of that kind.

E. W. and W. A. Crawford who have made such a success of the planing mill will be the proprietors of both mill and lumber yard.

NOW WE OFFER YOU A BENEFIT. We're going to sell what we have left of Hart, Schaffner & Marx and J. Capps & Sons' winter suits and overcoats at prices that are very much less than their real value. Sale commences Thursday, Jan. 20. Brook & Stice.

SURPRISE PARTY.

A surprise party and an old time candy pulling was given Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Maud Hamilton of St. Paul, Minn., at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Mary Robinson on Anna street. The evening was spent in games and a guessing contest in which Mrs. Yates and Mrs. Tate were the winners. Those present were R. R. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Yates and son, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, Mrs. M. C. Clark, Mrs. Josephine Butler, Mrs. Lucy Bolden, Miss Mabel Robinson and James Nelson and Mrs. Fannie Tate.

RETURNED FROM THE SOUTH. J. Marshall Miller has returned home after spending two weeks in Mississippi, where he has real estate interest near Mendenhall. The winter has been very unequal in the south, the coldest for many years and residents believe that as a result the soil will be in better condition than ever. Mr. Miller's trip was a rather wearing one from the fact that train service has been very irregular.

KILLED IN COAL MINE. Clyde McPherson was killed Thursday while employed at a coal mine south of Alsey. He was riding on top of a coal car when he struck his head against a rafter, crushing the skull. The organism was very badly mashed as the car was gathering momentum while coasting down a grade and the injured man lived but a few hours after the accident.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Late estimates on the percentage of recoveries under the new emollient treatment for Bright's Disease are as follows:

Where patients are much weakened and crises may be expected, in from five to ten days, probably not more than 10 to 20 per cent recover. Where physicians aid with efforts to restrain renal symptoms and percentage is increased. In cases where patients have thirty to sixty days of life the efficiency is very much higher.

Where patients do not wait until bed ridden probably three fourths field.

And in cases that take the new emollient treatment on the appearance of the disease nine out of ten respond.

Albumen Casts and droppings do not prevent recovery. The point is that the renal inflammation should be attacked before the heart and physical system are broken down.

The new emollient treatment is known as FULTON'S RENAL COMPOUND. It can be had in Jacksonville from Coover and Shreve, druggists.

We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week. Literature mailed free. Jno. J. Fulton Co., 212 First St., San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

AT THE GRAND

William Owen and Company Stage "Othello" and "As You Like It" to Delight of Audiences.

William Owen and his strong cast of magnificent players closed their engagement at the Grand last night with a splendid interpretation of Shakespeare's tragedy, "Othello." They played before a large audience and elicited well deserved applause.

Mr. Owen, in the part of Iago, gave full strength to the interpretation of the crafty villain. The ladies in the play, Miss Margaret Morrison as Desdemona and Miss Winifred Burke as Emilia, furnished their parts excellently. Miss Morrison executed a difficult role and brought out all the feeling and emotion that the part required. J. W. McConrell gave a splendid interpretation of Othello, the Moor of Venice.

Mr. Owen's company showed by their performance last night that they were thoroughly versed in the Shakespearean drama and were capable of meeting the demands of the tragedy as well as the comedy and the serio-comedy.

"As You Like It" was given before a large house Saturday afternoon. Mr. Owen appearing to splendid advantage in the role of Orlando.

Y. W. C. NOTES.

Rev. J. W. Fitzhugh will address the devotional meeting Sunday afternoon and a large attendance is desired.

At a business meeting held Monday afternoon the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year:

President—Hattie Adams.
Vice president—Harriet Parsons.
Treasurer—Florence Loar.
Secretary—Rose Rucker.
Corresponding secretary—Mrs. P. G. Capps.

These officers will be installed Tuesday night at an oyster supper in Armory hall, to which all club members and their friends are invited. Every woman, young or old, whether interested in the work of the club or not, will be welcomed at this supper. Any one who desires to attend will send their name to any of the officers or Miss Evans at the club room by Monday evening. Those coming are asked to bring ten cents.

Following the installation of officers, Mrs. Lillian Carpenter will present plans for the opera to be given by the club very shortly.

Mrs. Nellie B. Prince returned to Quincy after spending two weeks at the home of Mrs. Edward Prince.

SERIES OF SERMONS.

A series of Sunday morning sermons are to be given at Grace M. E. church by the pastor, Rev. Joseph C. Nale. The purpose of the series is to give a greater meaning to the different parts in the church order of service. It is the conviction of the pastor of the church that hours of public worship in the sanctuary are among the very greatest hours of privilege in human life and it fully understood the service of the church would be omitted by none without sincere regret and by the assisting Christian only with sorrow or chagrin. The attendance at all friends is cordially invited and that of the Grace church took faithfully urged for the entire series, which is as follows:

Jan. 14—The Church for Worship and Prayer.
Jan. 21—The Service of Song as a Means of Grace.
Jan. 28—The Prayer of the Pious Household.
Feb. 4—God's Word and the Heart's Response.
Feb. 11—Giving for One's Own Sake.
Feb. 18—The Mission of the Preacher.

Season's spring style Soft and Still Hats are now shown by FRANK HYMAN Hat Store.

WILL GO TO SPRINGFIELD.

Circuit Clerk Readings and Sheriff Grant will go to Springfield tomorrow where they have been summoned as witnesses in the suit of Richard vs. Adams, which is being heard in the circuit court there. The complainant is asking for damages on the ground that he was shot and injured by the defendant, who was serving on the police force. The shooting occurred a year or two ago just after Ratlin, Konrad and others escaped from the Morgan county jail. The Springfield police were notified and when they discovered three men riding on a freight train from the west into Springfield, they started to arrest them on the supposition that they were the men wanted in Jacksonville. Richards ran and the officer in pursuit shot him and the present court proceedings resulted.

Jas. McGinnis & Co

The recent election of ex-Mayor Fitzgerald in Boston suggests again what has been so often said that the forces for evil are so much wiser in their day and generation than the forces for good. When the gentleman was mayor before his administration was most notoriously corrupt and extravagant, according to all reports, and he was supported by the worst element in the recent campaign. These elements united on him the last time while he was opposed by two good men and the friends of the latter were free and independent citizens. They wouldn't be led by any ring; Oh no; they would be free to do just as they chose and vote for the man they preferred, neither being willing to give way to the other. They very well knew that the candidacy of both was for the benefit of Fitzgerald and would have been glad to see one of the two draw off but the one they wanted off was the other one and not their man. It is very hard in the eyes of a good many people for men to get together before hand and fix up a slate or do anything that looks like log rolling or wire pulling and when such work is done for sinister purposes or against the good of the people it is condemned, but when it is the only way in which evil can be thwarted then it is right for it is not doing evil that good may come of it. Organization wins and the forces for evil are always a unit as witness the long series of triumphs in the history of Tammany. It may be downed once in a great while, when the forces for good imitate its methods, get together and use common sense plans to win, but that is only occasionally.

Our state will doubtless have a primary law and in theory it is right and just if men will only act sensibly and pull together. So often is it the case when an undesirable man wants a nomination he will manage somehow to get two good men to run against him, for the independent man will not be compelled to vote for a man he doesn't endorse, and as a plurality nominates it will be easily seen how the undesirable man gets in.

Then comes the question of serving the public. How hard it is to persuade the right kind of men to accept office. It is a misfortune that in nearly all cases it requires a sacrifice for a good man to take any kind of public trust, but so it is from president down. The late governor Pifer said he went out of Springfield $20,000 poorer than he was when he went in. Senator Cullom is said to have no property at all. Wm. M. Springer sacrificed a large fortune in honestly serving the public and so it goes all the way through to the most humble office in the gift of the people.

Then too there come public enterprises of all kinds and how frequently it seems almost out of the question to persuade the right kind of men to accept trusteeships and positions requiring attention, but it is a duty nevertheless. Take the hospitals, the library, the churches, the kindergarten and in fact, all the public affairs which need effort and attention and the average citizen will admit that they are a good thing, in fact he may often profit by them but ask him to accept a place on the board and he wants some one else to do the work though the time may come when he will have an opportunity to profit by the existence of the enterprise.

Our people are all in a hurry and are unwilling to stop a while, to bear their share of civic burdens, to do their just part in the duties of citizens and so our administrative bodies in all walks of life are so often more or less filled with men wholly unfit for the position.

Our city has many things in which it can take a just pride; it has many citizens who have willingly given their time and means to promote the welfare of the public and yet much more can be done in this respect and a campaign of education should constantly be carried on.

We have a business men's association which all admit a progressive city needs if it is to hold its own and go ahead. It must have officers. No criticism is offered those who are unwilling to fill its offices but the question arises, who will do it? Generally speaking such places are best filled by men not seeking them but who have been persuaded to accept such positions from a sense of duty to the public and incidentally to themselves also.

Sometimes a man may be selected to fill a position of trust, who knows that he cannot devote the time necessary to important duties of the place, without too great sacrifice of time that must be given to his own large personal interests and that of his associates in great business enterprises. There is, of course, a limit to the endurance of any one individual, and when that is true, there can be no criticism. Many men who would like to be at the front in leadership of public enterprises, therefore, cannot conscientiously take all the time outside of business hours, that they should devote to their families and homes, to perform duties, which under other circumstances they would gladly accept. Some men of this character fill a large place in our municipal advancement by the conduct of business enterprises that give employment to many men; and the fruits of their efforts in business add largely to the general prosperity of the community, and thus they too, are actually doing a good work in aiding and encouraging others. Their work and thought and efforts are for the general good.

Then too, it is worth remembering that it does a man good to help along in such things. The person who devotes himself always exclusively to his own affairs regardless of the public or the comfort and welfare of his fellow beings is buying pecuniary success at a fearful price which no man can afford to pay.

The all wise Creator has so constituted His creatures that they are the happiest when thinking to some extent of the good of others. Happiness is something that nearly always eludes the ardent seeker but in turn becomes the seeker after one who turns his back on her. This sounds paradoxical, but a little investigation will abundantly prove it.

There are conspicuous opportunities all about us for public duty and it is especially wise to foster the spirit of service in our young people, for upon them sooner or later devolve the duties now performed by others and if they are encouraged and given an opportunity to look at these matters in the right light they will acquire correct ideas and become useful to the community.

Some of the men who keep in the public eye, however, are self-seeking, and it is in them that a great danger to the community may often be attributed. They are the men always ready to belittle others, especially the young men, and to this class is largely due to the fact that this home town is too often a place where the young man has little opportunity to develop, or to show what is in him until the gray hairs (the only badge of wisdom in the opinion of a few) have begun to show and he has lost a part of the ambition and vim so necessary to work in public life.

One institution in the city, which has done good work under the leadership of a young man, could accomplish even greater things if more generously supported financially by the class seemingly well able to do so—the Y. M. C. A. The management has been and is hampered by the lack of funds to branch out, to modernize, to make the place what it should really be to attract the young. Spasmodic efforts have been made, successfully, but there is no permanent fund on which the management can rely, plans can not be made for more than the day or the year. With the facilities and support they have received the present management, under the leadership of Judge F. E. Baldwin has accomplished a great work, and deserve the support, not only of the churches but of all classes.

This is a day when a multiplicity of schemes are presented to detach the dollar from our generous people, and the success of the work yesterday, "tag day," only further emphasizes the fact that our people are seldom found lacking when a worthy cause is brought directly to their attention. The ladies worked nobly and persistently, but good feeling and good humor and a goodly amount of cash attended their efforts. Tag day has become a recognized Passavant Hospital day.

Will the men interested in holding aloft the banner of the Y. M. C. A. be as successful in their efforts? They cannot, of course, use tag day methods, but the response to their call should nevertheless be generous and prompt. Baldwin, the president of the association is an enthusiastic earnest fellow and his heart has been and is in the work, and he should receive the hearty support of men interested. The association is primarily in the interest of the young. Even those not wholly satisfied as to the breadth and scope of the work should recognize the fact that there are limitations that only an increased amount of cash can overcome, and back their criticism with a contribution.

Secretary Root expresses himself philosophically regarding getting together on great issues, and the danger of separating on secondary ones, as follows:

"I am coming to think that capacity for united effort to obtain a common object of primary importance, as distinguished from strife about formal or comparatively unimportant differences, depends upon the stage of development of civilization which the people or the members of any great organization have reached. Every great nation seems to pass at some period through a storm belt of incapacity to unite. The races that are capable of development beyond that point rule the world: the races that are not capable of it go down."

President Lowell of Harvard follows Dr. Elliott into New York state with a knock at primary elections, based on the Massachusetts or Boston experience. He said in his address before the American economic association:

"The subject of direct primaries is a burning one at present. Public opinion on the question is in a strange state of chaos. The campaign for its adoption in New York is in full swing at the very time that in Boston it has been abolished as a failure. Substantially every one in Boston, including leading politicians of both parties and reforms, agreed that either system was better than the method of direct primaries which had been tried for several years."

CONSERVATION AND UNIFORM LAWS

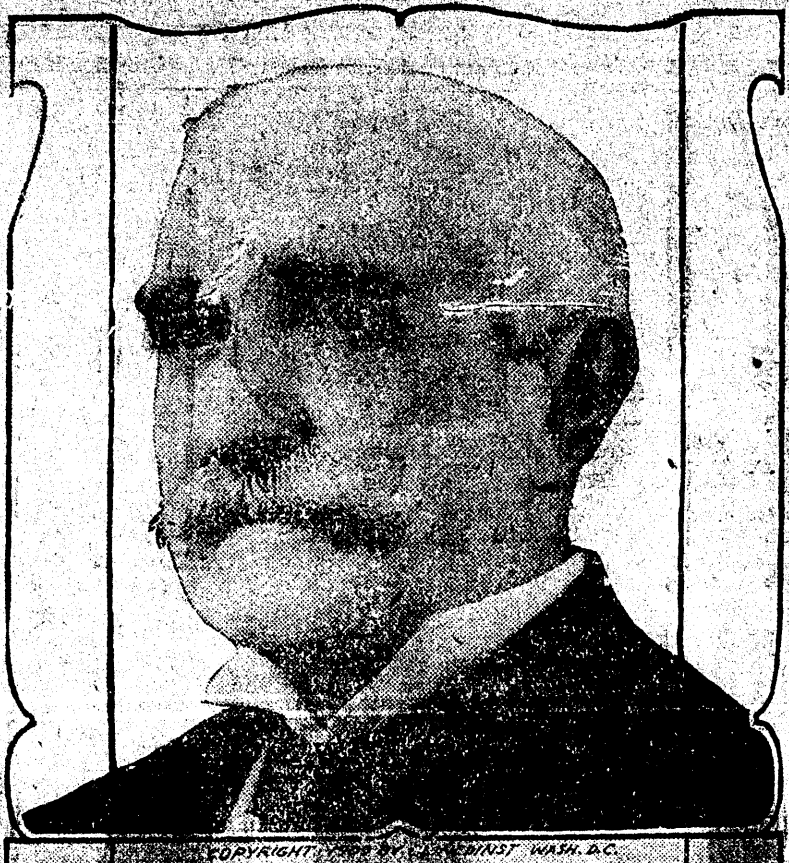

Two Important Conferences to Be Held in Washington This Week—Many Will Attend.

Washington, Jan. 15.—For the last few days every train arriving in Washington brought a number of distinguished men from different parts of the United States to the national capital, among them, governors of states, other high state officials, representatives of railroads and other transportation companies, officials of insurance companies, financial institutions and large industrial corporations, prominent merchants, labor representatives, heads of agricultural organizations and professional men of all kinds. The hotels are rapidly filling up and by tomorrow night, it is expected practically all the delegates and members who will attend the two important conferences to be held here next week, the annual conference of the National Civic Federation and the annual conference of governors in the interest of the conservation of national resources, will be assembled here.

The conference under the auspices of the National Civic Federation will begin on Monday and will continue until Wednesday. The conference of governors will begin Tuesday and close on Thursday. The sessions of The National Civic Federation conference will be held at the Belasco theatre, those of the National Conservation Conference of Governors in the East room of the White House tendered by President Taft for that purpose. As the objects of the two conferences coincide in many respects and, in a general way, tend in the same direction, the state governors gathering here for their annual conferences on conservatism are expected to take an active part in the deliberations of the civic conference, the scope of which includes practically every civic and corporate interest in an effort to bring about uniformity of state legislation. The National Association of Uniform State Law Commissioners is included in all state delegations and will take a prominent part in the conference.

The Civic Federation conference will be opened by Seth Low, president of the National Civic Federation and President Taft has consented to deliver the opening address. He will be followed by Alton B. Parker, chairman of the program committee and Governor Augustus E. Willson, of Kentucky, chairman of the committee of governors. According to the plan mapped out by the program committee the various topics of discussion will be introduced one after the other and ample opportunity will be given to discuss the propositions that may be submitted. The purpose in holding this conference is to develop the recognition of the need for uniform state legislation by having all important national organizations, promoting uniformity in any field, state before the conference clearly and succinctly just what they desire.

Among the distinguished representatives of national organizations attending the conference will be Louis E. Pearson, who heads the delegation from the American Bankers' Association; Charles W. Eliot, from the National Conservation Association; John F. Dryden, from the Association of Life Insurance Presidents; Joshua Strange, from the Farmers' National Congress; A. A. Sprague, from the Wholesale Grocers' Association; Frederick W. Lehmann, president of the American Bar Association; Charles J. Bonaparte, president of the National Municipal League; J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic Association; David Heineman, president of the League of American Municipalities; Joseph E. Ransdell, president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress; Irving Fisher, president of the National Health Association; Curtis Guild, Jr., from the American Forestry Association; Andrew Carnegie John Hays Hammond, Elihu Root, Alton B. Parker, Henry Wade Rogers, Samuel Compers, John Mitchell, Warren S. Stone, James Duncan, Walter L. Fisher, James R. Gardfield, John C. Milburn, William Allen White; Eugene S. Benjamin, president of the National Association of Clothiers; Martin S. Decker, president of the National Association of State Railway Commissioners; Allen R. Foote, president of the International Tax Association; James G. Cannon, George B. Cortelyou, George F. Seward and David R. Francis, representing the New York Chamber of Commerce; W. C. Gorgas, chief sanitary officer of the Isthmian Canal Commission, who heads the delegation of the American Medical Association; D. A. Tompkins, president of the Appalachian National Forest Association; John A. Hartigan, president of the national convention of Insurance Commissioners; Murdo Mackenzie, of the American National Live Stock Association; Charles D. Walcott of the National Academy of Sciences; N. J. Bachelder, Master of the National Grange; J. E. Sterrett, president of the American Association of Public Accountants; Frank Cheney, president of the Protective Association of American and hundreds of others, including the presidents of various railroads, express, telegraph and other industrial corporations and officials of national labor organizations.

JAMES L. DAVENPORT, NEW COMMISSIONER OF PENSIONS.

Mr. Davenport, held the position of first deputy commissioner of pensions for many years before his elevation to the commissionership and is credited with knowing more about the operation of the pension bureau than any other man alive. He has announced that he will apply the shears to much of the red tape that has hampered the department ever since it came into existence. This ought to meet with favor from thousands of veterans who have seen their claims held up from year to year because of the interminable processes of the government. His reforms will be helpful in the conduct of the pension office.

HARKER OF ILLINOIS.

Under the above caption the Western Christian Advocate in a recent issue pays the following tribute to President Joseph R. Harker of Illinois Woman's college:

"Few men are accomplishing more for our church and the cause of Christian education than President Joseph R. Harker of the Illinois Woman's college. In the vernacular of today, he 'brings things to pass.' He always has. He could write a most interesting autobiography, showing the possibilities of self help and self advancement under the most adverse circumstances. He could tell how he was put into the coal mines in England when but a lad of ten, having no further school education all his life; how he toiled through twelve hours each day; how the desire for an education took possession of him, leading him to purchase an arithmetic and grammar, and study at night, making but slow progress; how his family migrated to this country and he began work in the coal mines of Illinois; how, when the mines shut down in the slack season, he used the spare time over his books, engaging the schoolmaster for an hour or two a week to answer questions about the difficulties he encountered; how a certain Presbyterian minister became interested in him and helped him with his classical studies; how he went right on and won his A. B. and A. M. and Ph. D., pursuing his own studies and submitting to examinations.

"Such an example is worth an untold amount. If any one is positively shut out from attending high school or college and yet longs for an education, he certainly can get it in the same way that Harker did. It may take longer, and will call for much pluck and perseverance, but it can be done. And there are facilities now existing of which he could not avail himself; there are a number of excellent correspondence schools—such as that at Scranton and those conducted by the University of Chicago, and several similar institutions—which will provide admirable training and guidance. In all our larger cities and towns free night schools are available; the Chattanooga institution and the Young Men's Christian association offer valuable aid in the same direction. If one really desires to be educated, there are wide open avenues for him on every side, even though residence at a college may be out of the question.

"At the solicitation of a certain superintendent of education, Joseph Harker, though protesting his insufficient preparation and inability, took charge of a school for colored youth. He mastered the situation from the start, and had not been teaching more than a few weeks before the conviction came to him that he had found his life's vocation. Then for nearly twenty years we find him in this calling—as teacher, principal, head of grammar school, superintendent of schools, head master of an academy, until in 1893 he took the presidency of the institution in Jacksonville, Ill.

"This school, under his direction, has progressed by leaps and bounds, until it now stands as one of the representative schools for women in the central west. From an academy he has carried it to a full collegiate grade, and it can now offer a most thorough education in its regular course. It stands, almost without a rival or competitor, alone in its class for a vast region of country. Beginning with 1899, every year has seen an enlargement of the college plant. In 1899 an extension was made to the main building, another in 1900 and another in 1902. In 1901 a tract of three acres was added to the original five acres of the college property, and in 1903 another addition to the campus was made. In 1904 a central power house was built, with equipment for heating, lighting and laundry. In 1906 a building was erected costing $50,000, providing a large auditorium and recitation rooms for the schools of music, art and expression. In 1909 another building was added at a cost of $60,000, giving facilities for domestic science, biological and other laboratories, library and additional rooms for students. Thus in the past ten years additions to the valuation of the property of at least a quarter of a million dollars have been made.

"But, not satisfied with this splendid result, this indomitable president has started out to raise an endowment fund of a quarter million, and a building and equipment fund of another quarter million, and he is confident he can do it in the next seven years. He has never known failure yet, and he ought to be helped to succeed magnificently in this attempt. The school is evidently needed, and is doing first class work. The enthusiasm of the graduates of the school—of classes, societies and associations. But he must look elsewhere for his main gifts. He believes that there are somewhere living one hundred and fifty friends of women's higher education who can, by direct gift or annuity, enrich the college by donations running from fifty thousand dollars to a thousand. We hope that his dream will come true, and that these good people will allow themselves to be discovered. If any one deserves to succeed, it is Harker of Illinois!"

ARE GRATEFUL.

To all the good citizens of Jacksonville, the ladies who worked so hard, the business men, the street car company, the daily papers, to all the churches and pastors and all others, who helped to make Tag Day possible, we extend our most sincere gratitude.

CALIFORNIA CITIES ARE DESCRIBED

(By D. K. McCarty.)

Our time being up at San Francisco, we started for Los Angeles one morning at eight o'clock. We wanted a daylight run for this is one of the most delightful trips in the whole western country. One may see all kinds of country on this trip—from the most beautiful flower gardens to the most desolate sand dunes; the grand old Pacific ocean and the everlasting mountains. We saw fruit raising in all varieties, flower raising in fields of forty acres and more, vegetables in great quantities, grain farms, ranches, and beet growing. Some places they were harvesting their sugar beets and hauling them out of the fields with ten mules to the wagon. This kind of a team took our fancy. We have seen good teams in Illinois, but nothing to compare with these. Some places were romantic in the extreme and would draw one's mind from the beauties to the sublime in nature. This was where the mountain spurs crowded the road close to the ocean, sometimes so close that one might step directly from the car into the ocean, and it seemed as if we were hanging in space, the mountains above and the sea below. We know of no road of 475 miles that is more diversifying or more interesting than this. In order to make all this run in daylight we stopped off at the old Spanish town, Santa Barbara, where we thought we could spend a part of one day with profit.

Santa Barbara is 371 miles from San Francisco. It is a seaport town of considerable importance. Many tourists stop here, some to see the old missions the Spaniards built hundreds of years ago; others to enjoy the climate and bathe in the surf for a renewal of strength and health. We like the town and its surroundings, the beach being, in our estimation, the best of all. We went out on the pier and watched the unloading of a large vessel which came in early in the morning. We are sure we could spend a few weeks here with much pleasure.

We arrived at Los Angeles the next day at 2:30 p. m., making our home at the Golden State hotel, a very good house, where the street cars passed every five minutes and we could go to any part of the city without much trouble. Mrs. Hughes had set her heart on going over to Santa Catalina Island, and of course we all wanted to please her, so made our program according to her wishes. Mrs. Hughes was not struck on this trip on account of his stomach having a tendency to turn over when the vessel pitched or rolled, but being a good fellow and desirous of pleasing his wife he put up no kick.

On Saturday morning we boarded the cars for San Pedro where we were to take the vessel for the island and we were not the only ones going on that trip either. The cars were packed to their full capacity but the run was only about twenty miles and it soon came to an end, but our discomfort just commenced. There were more than one ship load and we, with five hundred others were cut off from the first trip and had to wait an hour for another. We were crowded into a small place and packed so many sheep waiting to be shipped to market. The sun was shining and it seemed to beat down on us as if it had a spite at some one in the crowd. It is an ill wind that blows no one any good, so the small boys passed through the crowd as well as they could, telling the people that if they would chew gum in good quantities before going aboard, they would not become seasick; many believed and invested, some doubted but gave the boys the benefit of the doubt and they indulged also. Mr. Hughes invested ten cents and passed the precious stuff around and we all filled our mouths and began masticating there and then. We had no faith in this preventive, neither did we expect to be seasick, but we were willing to do as others did, as long as there was nothing bad about it. We made one of the most comical appearances any one ever saw; just think, five hundred people standing as close as possible in the hot sun with their heads up, chewing gum to beat the band; and the queerest part of the whole business was, we were all smart, too smart to be taken in by anyone. The ship was soon ready for us, and we were ready for the ship, for standing on the beach chewing gum was neither romantic nor funny. We had a real pleasant trip over to the islands, very few feeling any depressing effects by the rolling of the vessel, but the morning was perfect, the sea calm, and one would have to get a bump on them to get any kind of sickness; the gum had done its work.

Santa Catalina Island has become quite a health resort. There are over a dozen good hotels, many flats and rooming houses and if you prefer a tent, you can hire one, or you can take your tent with you and live in it as long as you please. Living is not as high here as one would suppose. You can get a room for fifty cents per day and up, tents for from three and a half dollars per week to ten dollars per month. You can rent a 16x24 tent suitable for four persons for $40 per month. We got as good a meal as any one could wish for fifty cents. If the majority of the days are as fine as the day we were on the island we do not see why one could not recuperate here; the air is all you could wish and the surroundings are lovely. We talked to several who had been here for weeks, some for a rest only, others to regain their health and all were loud in their praise of the island. Catalina is twenty-two miles long, comprising 40,000 acres and is considered one of the best fishing places in the world. The leaping tuna is the game fish of the Pacific ocean. Many of these fish are caught here, some weighing 250 pounds. The yellow tail are the next best. They run from 15 to 80 lbs. There are other varieties too numerous to mention. The beauty of fishing here is, you do not have to fish all day to get a pile and when you do get one, you generally hook a whopper.

There are attractions on the island but we have taken up space enough and will say goodbye to this lovely spot, and go aboard the vessel once more and try our fortune on the briny deep.

No one thought of chewing gum on our return. We had such a perfect day of pleasure that we never once thought sickness could come in so short a time. But conditions had changed; there was a fair wind and the old Pacific seemed to have her back up, and we were not far on our homeward journey when several of the passengers began casting their bread upon the waters, without the least thought of the promise that it would return in many days. Before we arrived at the wharves at San Pedro, the cabin floor was covered with unfortunate. Our crowd had no trouble keeping their stomachs right side up and we were thankful for this. It brought out one's sympathy to see those people who were so happy and bubbling over with fun and good fellowship, stricken down with an almost deadly sickness in so short a time.

Mrs. McCarty was the lucky one of our crowd, having the pleasure of seeing a small whale; but you could not make her believe it was small. She pointed it out to the captain and he informed her that it was a real whale, but that they were uncommon in that latitude. It was long after dark when we arrived in the city and we were soon sleeping the sleep that only innocence knows.

The next morning was Sunday and we had time for a little extra sleep but we were ready for Sunday school when the bell rang. We had a good school, listened to a fine sermon and met many nice people and had quite a chat with the preacher. After church we had a good dinner at a Cafeteria. Perhaps some of our readers would wonder what kind of a place this is where we took this Sunday dinner. A Cafeteria is a waterless restaurant. There is no careless waiter to spill soup down the back of your neck, or to be always missing when you want something real badly. You go into the dining room, pick up a large platter of silver, then a napkin, knife, fork, spoons, move along a counter, where everything good to eat is displayed. Meat of all kinds, dressing, fish, vegetables, gravy, salads, all kinds of deserts, bread, butter, fruit and ice cream and lemonade, coffee and tea. You call for what you want and it is dished out to you on small dishes, costing from one to ten cents per dish. The last thing you get is a check, showing your bill; you take the platter of good things to a table and eat it in peace at your leisure; as you go out you pass by the cashier who looks at your check and takes your fare. We think the Cafeteria a much better way of serving people than the old way. They are becoming quite common in the west.

Monday morning we went out to Long Beach to have fun with the surf. After taking a good look at everything on the pier, we went down on the sand where the mighty rollers came in. It seemed to us there was an animosity between the sea and the land. The rollers came in spitefully, carrying everything before them, and when they break on the shore they try to suck everything back into the sea. We thought we were going to earn another Carnegie medal here on this morning, but we didn't. A lady was sitting on the sand, while her little girl, three years old, played around her. She told her not to go close to the water, but the little one had a head of her own and ventured a little closer, when a roller of great dimensions made a run for the child. The lady screamed and the little one made a run, but it takes nimble feet to outrun one of these rollers and the child was knocked down, and had the undertow been strong enough to take her in, we would have been compelled to jump in and rescue that wilful child; but we were saved the trouble thereby losing our medal. We had a good deal of fun here on the beach. Mr. Hughes walked deliberately down to the water and began picking up shells, never making any calculations for the coming in of the water, or thinking of the continual war between the sea and the land, and the first thing he knew, he was knee deep in the ocean. This brought a laugh on Mr. Hughes but he was perfectly happy and when we offered to go wading with him, he accepted and we were soon two barefooted boys, a little aged for boys, but none the less happy. We waded for hours, while the ladies picked up shells, but of course they had no fun compared with what we had. They complained about the looks of our apparel going back to the city, but Mr. Hughes reminded them that no one knew us and it made very little difference how we looked. At noon we found a good Cafeteria and were glad of it, for the sea breeze with plenty of exercise certainly gives one an appetite that costs money to appease. Late in the evening we wandered back to the city and spent a part of the evening at a mission hearing some fine singing and splendid testimonies.

We saw several mission wagons in Los Angeles and we believe they do much good. The men and women in charge of these wagons are in earnest and work hard trying to persuade people to take up the better life. Such men and women should have the respect and support of all good, loyal citizens of any city or community where they labor.

We are going to bed early tonight, because we want an early start in the morning for Pasadena where the rich people live, but you can read about rich people every day so we are going over to Pasadena to get some pointers on those peculiar birds who grow the fine feathers the ladies think so much of.

THE HOT STOVE LEAGUE

If the New York Americans win the pennant next season, manager Stallings will receive a bonus of $2,500.

As the Pittsburgh club has sold Abstein, Jack Flynn looks like the regular first sacker of the Pirates next season.

"Nap" Rucker, the Brooklyn South pa, says the injury he got in Cuba was a minor affair and that he is all right again.

First Baseman Murch, who has had a trial in Brooklyn, Boston and Detroit, will play with Indianapolis next season.

"Jeff" Overall doesn't like Owner Murphy's offer of a bonus for thirty victories, but wants a straight increase in salary with no "ifs."

George Dally the young pitcher secured by the Giants from the Springfield 34 League club, won 23 out of 34 games during last season.

The Cleveland club is after Bobby Wallace of the St. Louis Browns. The "Nappies" must be thinking of throwing "Cotton-Top" Turner into the discard.

Sherwood Magee will be with the Philadelphia Nationals again next season and it looks as if the Giants haven't a chance to cop the star outfielder.

M. J. ("Mike") Finn has bought a controlling interest in the Waterbury, Connecticut League. "Mike" managed the Little Rock team for several years.

"Pug" Bennett, who played with Seattle, and led the Northwestern League in hitting last season, is now a professor at Oak Ridge institute, what ever that is.

Wheeling, West Virginia, fans declare that McMechanic purchased by Pittsburgh from the Wheeling club, will show Bobby Burns how to play the third station with success.

It is said that "Ducky" Holmes has given up his pet scheme of organizing a baseball league in South Dakota and has signed to manage the Toledo team in the American association.

Manager Donovan of the Boston Red Sox is afraid that his team will not receive proper attention at Hot Springs if more than two teams stop at the same hotel. "Patsey" wants only the Sox family, Cincinnati and Boston, in the same camp.

The Cuban teams winning a majority of baseball games from our players caused several scribes to roar that foreigners were fast gathering our championship laurels. The scribes are right in this last laurel stuff. Look who holds the Chili-con-carne emblem, a Mexican. The spaghetti champions, from paper to heavy-weight, live in Italy and the Turks have us ground to powder in the cigarette league.

LIBRARY STORY HOURS

The large number of people who have expressed a wish to hear another course of lectures by Miss Lyman will be glad to know that she has been requested to reserve the week beginning January 24 for Jacksonville. Three lectures will be given, covering the following subjects:

Bible stories.
Classic sources for story telling.
Adaptation of stories to the various stages in the development of children.

The lectures will be illustrated by stories and will give practical suggestions to mothers, teachers, and Sunday school teachers regarding the selection of stories and the art of telling.

By request, two of the lectures will be given in the evening, and one will come late on one afternoon. If there are others who wish to plan to hear these lectures, information will be given by the librarian.

Mr. Andrew Russell is providing two story hours for the children in the first seven grades, but it is hoped that an evening can be given to the 8th grade and high school students, but announcement as to this will be made later.

Invitations to the story hours will be published and sent out through the schools, and strict adherence to grades invited will be required. This is necessary to avoid crowding the room, and inattention on the part of children too young for some stories which might be selected.

Read the Journal: 10c a week.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains downward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."—Mrs. AUGUSTE VESPERMANN, De Forest, Wisconsin.

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. L. E. FERRON, 1111 Kerlered St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. A great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

If you want special advice about your case write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

THE KENTUCKY
MOUNTAINEERSSIMPLE LIFE AND DEADLY
FEUDS.How After Years of Bloodshed Two Factions Made Friends.

Solo. Repub.—Embracing 13,000 square miles, the mountain section of Kentucky presents notable physical features. Along the south eastern border runs a nearly uniform ridge from which numerous off shoots branch in all directions and at all angles. These spurs often attain a height of more than 2500 feet, but their extreme altitude does not exceed 3000. They are, however, steep and rugged, the valleys narrow and darksome. The scenery is in many places picturesque. The limestone rock of which these peaks are composed, underlying the carboniferous rocks, is the foundation of the wonderful coal fields of this section of Kentucky. Peculiarly weird and impressive are some of these peaks, the palmy waters having carved the rocks into giant columns and archways, suggestive of ruined temples and crumbling castles. Conjure up also with these visions of the mighty structures that shall, from these natural ruins rise into temples of industry and art and religion. The nature of the soil and the topography of a country largely determine the habits, customs and character of a people. The Kentucky mountaineer is endowed, accordingly with great strength, courage and honor, with simplicity and purity.

Archdeacon Wentworth of Winchester writes of the Kentucky mountaineer.

"We find that the highlander every where from the lack of opportunity, is less educated than the dweller in valley, but more independent and self reliant. His seclusion shuts him off from the progressive social changes of the age; and he has become old fashioned in speech and appearance; but his simplicity is usually the source of a generous and hospitable spirit. His most admirable quality is his intense and deep nature that knows no discouragement and retreats before no obstacle in the paths of his cherished goal. It is such qualities as these that have shared largely in shaping the destinies of nations.

A large contributing cause to the mountaineer's backwardness is the lack of good roads and transportation. It is difficult for one who has not lived in the mountains to appreciate the discouraging effect of these obstacles. This sturdy stock has become the victim of a condition that men of iron can scarcely hope to control. They have waited long for outside relief to relieve their isolation and unlock the stores of wealth which are hidden beneath their mountain homes. The onward march of civilization has been checked by rocks and hills. The waves of progress have washed all around the confines of this unfortunate region—a barren island, surrounded by an ocean teeming with life.

"The mountaineer's social life is meager and his amusements few and simple. The old fashioned 'dance,' 'apple peeling,' 'bean stringing,' and 'carpet tacking' are the extent of them. Religious worship is represented outside of the few larger towns by family 'bible readings' and an occasional 'public service' by some simple but earnest itinerant preacher, the friendly shade of a neighboring tree, in all of which they reveal an earnestness and sincerity. The mountaineer is superstitious; he has caught it from the solitude and mystery of the somber valleys and awe inspiring heights. Take him for all in all, he is naturally religious and devout, though his idea of the practical application of his teachings may be crude and often erroneous."

Listen to a story, typical of a class of mountain people fast passing away under the influence of education and religion. The hero of the tale whom we shall McCoy, was of Virginian stock, his grandfather and father coming to Kentucky in 1774 with the celebrated George Rogers Clarke. Father and Grandfather took part in that bloody Indian war that subsequently drove out the early settlers and for several years prevented further attempts at colonization. His father and his family, consisting of a family of eight children, fled to the mountains, locating at the head waters of the Cumberland river in what is now called Harlan county. There they lived until the father was killed in a feud and the family was obliged to move back to the old home place at the Elkhorn head waters, and subsequently to their present home near the Cumberland falls.

McCoy: "I was born about 72 years ago, and up to the age of 16 lived about as other mountain boys, spending most of my time in the garden patch and hunting. There was no school near to go to, so I got no book learning. I was considered the best shot with the rifle, my boy and man, in the mountains. I knew that had a good deal to do with my troubles, for the first difficulty I got into came out of a fuss I got into at a shooting match. They tried to bar me out. I had a fuss with a man by the name of Hall. Several shots were fired, but no one was hurt. By and by, this feller and I met again; we both fired. I got the best of him, and he died with a bullet through the head. That was March 1852. That was my first trouble. I had no more for several years, as the war come on and kept us busy. I was taken prisoner by the Confederates, near Pound Gap, and taken to Richmond, Va. Afterwards I was transferred to Camp Douglas, where I met the brother of Hall, who had become one of the most noted feud fighters in eastern Kentucky. A union of brotherly love was made between us, which lasted until I saw him hung in Wise, Va., in 1863 for the murder of Amos Hylton in 1865.

REPRESENTATIVE VICTOR MURDOCK, "INSURGENT" LEADER.

Representative Victor Murdock of Kansas declared war upon Speaker Cannon before the opening of the present session of congress and has consistently kept up his fight. It was the Kansas member who called the insurgent Republican representatives into caucus before the opening of the session to outline a fight against the speaker. Mr. Murdock is regarded as a "comer" in national politics. He is one of the most forceful speakers in congress and stands for what is termed the new idea in the management of national affairs. He is also a writer and lecturer of rare ability.

"I was on my way to Prestonburg, Ky., when I came upon two horse thieves. In less time than it takes to tell it, I did 'em both,' and returned the horses to their owners. I was fired upon by their friends several times but managed to pull through after some pretty close calls. In 1867 I went to Hawkins county, Tennessee and went into the 'moonshine' business. I stayed there two years and got into more trouble—killed two men, but I did it in self defense. I left Tennessee and went out west, locating in Taylor county, Texas. I fell in love with a girl out there. Her father objected to me, and we had trouble. When he abused me, I let go and killed him and his son. I then returned to Kentucky. Every thing was quiet with me until the early 70's, when a feud started between Caleb Jones of Knott county and myself. His friends joined him and my friends joined me. I had 20 men on my side. July 10, 1882, we set out for Hindman, Knott county. Caleb Jones' stronghold. We walked into the center of the main street of the town, and gave them an invitation to fight. They were not slow in accepting and the battle began. The battle over, we had won out with a loss of two men to Jones' four and two more dangerously wounded. Later, after we had been reinforced by twelve men and secured a supply of ammunition, we went over to Knott county, got on the track of Jones' party, followed them to the Mallet fork of Beaver creek, and had another battle. My loss was four, instead of six, as the other party always claimed. They lost three killed and one wounded. We backed out and the Jones party followed us unbeknownst to us into Letcher county, and at daybreak, opened fire on us from a high cliff overlooking the mouth of Boone's fork. They had us in the 'holler' and after a hot fight wounded two of my men. We retreated to the woods and the battle closed. The following day, one of my men, Roscoe McCoy, a great fighter, was ambushed while riding along a public road on Rockhouse creek and killed. It was when Bill Cook was killed a year before. This put new blood into our veins. So we laid for them the following January, near where McCoy was ambushed. I had 40 men as brave fellows as ever fired a gun. Jones had 30. Neither of us had much to brag on in results, and neither of us ever told our losses, but they were great. The next battle fought was on Carr's Fork creek in Knott county. Jones lost three, I lost two. For five years longer we fought back and forth, in two counties, until the battle on Carr's Fork in 1889, when a peace was declared between Caleb and me. In these battles we each had lost many men, but we shook hands and quit."

Here the aged feudist hesitated, and sank into deep meditation over those exciting times and deeds. Questioned as to the renewal of trouble, he emphatically replied: "No, we are at peace, Caleb and me. We are the best of friends. We often visit each other."

Asked how many he killed, the feudist replied: "I am charged with 18, but I never done that many—not by a lot." But those that I did I met face to face in the open, man to man. Yes, I guess it was a bad business, but I guess it had to be."

The relater of this story exhibited no bragadocio, but seemed to consider it all as a matter of but ordinary interest, about which he did not care to talk—often. It was hard to realize that this apparently mild, kindly disposed and hospitable man was the chief actor in these bloody feuds.

Addressing a missionary, the old mountain fighter said: "Parson, I hopes you won't think hard of me about those scraps of mine. God knows, parson, I wish I hadn't done 'em; but I was young and wasn't raised to know no better. That's the reason, parson, I want to do all I kin to help those boys and gals yonder to grow up good men and women."

Free Sample
For Baby's Ills

Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for the child that refuses to eat and is restless in its sleep. And since the basis of all health is the proper working of the digestive organs, look first to the condition of the stomach and bowels.
A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This emptying of the bowels is very important, as with it comes a clear head, a lightness of spirit, good appetite and sound sleep. But it is equally important to know what to give the child in the emergency of constipation and indigestion. Cathartics are too strong and salts and other purgatives are not only too strong, but the child refuses them because of their bad taste. Have you ever tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin? It is a liquid tonic that families have been using for a quarter of a century. It is mild, pleasant-tasting and promptly effective. It is good for you as well as for the child, but there is nothing better to be found for children. They like its taste, you will not have to force them to take it.
First of all, if you have not yet used it, Dr. Caldwell would like to send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it before buying. Later, when convinced of its merits, you can get it of your druggist at fifty cents and other families are doing so.
Dr. D. W. Spangler of Strattonville, Pa., as well as that of Mr. A. F. Johnson of Walnut Grove, Tenn., started with it that way and now write that it is their only family necessity next to food itself. If you are unfortunate enough to have a sickly child, one given to constipation and indigestion, you should send for a free sample of this remedy.
Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For further request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 503 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

FADS AND FASHIONS

New York, Jan. 15.—The French tendency toward narrowing shoulders, flattening the bust and broadening the waist has its influence upon the silhouette here, but only in a comparatively few cases, as the majority of the well-dressed women in this country have refused to adopt extreme models along that line. American dressmakers say, there has been much protest against the pinched shoulder line, and that in copying or altering French models they have usually been asked to devise some way of widening the shoulders.

A familiar way of achieving this narrow line without the awkward narrowing of seams on the shoulder is the cutting of shoulder and sleeves or sleeve cap in one so that the line is unbroken, though there is no extending fullness at the broken point. This compromise has resulted in a much modified version of the Japanese sleeve, the wideness of the Japanese armhole being in most cases eliminated, the sleeve being made comparatively close, but the unbroken line and slight drapery movement around the armhole being retained.

The advent of the short coat, the belted blouse, the girdled bodice and the more closely fitting costume coat will help to bring the silhouette back to better proportions. The very smartest of the late season costume coats in Paris are unquestionably shortened and in suits being made for the Riviera this tendency is emphasized, as is the blouse idea. Belting or some employment of braiding giving much the same effect as belting is also noticeable upon a considerable portion of these costumes for the South, which, while only tentative guesses at the modes that spring will bring forth, do show what authority French makers consider spring probabilities.

The bodice and skirt arrangements which are in the majority just now, though usually the two are attached to each other under the girdle so that the frock is to all intents and purposes a one-piece affair, are much more easily handled than the genuine one-piece designs and the home dressmaker will be thankful for their return. Of course, there are still many charming models draped all in one piece, and tunic arrangements which present a continuous line from bust to knee or lower; but the girdled model is in its own way quite as modish and a large percentage of the latest models from the great French houses are of this type. Therefore this easier arrangement may be resorted to without the feeling that it involves a departure from the accepted lines.

It is true that only an artist could successfully achieve many of the models from the famous makers in Paris, but on the other hand there has seldom been a time when smartness could be achieved with less inspired ability on the part of the maker, provided the woman ordering the frock has taste, a fine sense of color and a thorough understanding of the limitations of her figure.

Among the models displayed by one of the fashionable shops is a frock of mousseline de soie turned out by one of the famous Parisian designers. The under robe is of plain mousseline, the corsage and overskirt are of mousseline of the same color; sprinkled with little gold paillettes; but there are innumerable sheer materials which might be used for the same model. A satin under robe and overdress of mousseline or chiffon or any sheer soft stuff would work out well with this model; and for that matter the whole frock may be of one sheer material without the paillettes on the over dress; or again the under robe may be of sheer white or color and the over dress of the same sheer stuff, but in another color, producing a harmonious veiled color scheme.

Suits of heavy corded silk are rivaling the ever-popular velvet costumes. These new and lovely creations are trimmed with fur. The coats are quite short. One of these silk costumes shown in one of the fashionable shops was of dull green, its collar and cuffs being of Persian lamb. With it it was carried an immense muff of the same fur. This muff, by the way, was long and very narrow.

One rarely sees a blouse at present that is not the double one of chiffon and lace. The chiffon matches the skirt of the suit and continues the color almost as a one piece dress. A new blouse model is of white moire silk trimmed with bands of white satin. A touch of gold is given by the braid ornaments which fasten the bodice at the side.

Evening wraps now must match the gown in color. They are of soft materials like chiffon or mousseline. Black and dark blue are still the favorite colors in combination for afternoon and evening.

Skirts that are reminiscent of the days of 1880 are being shown by some of the best modistes. They are plaited and draped and give the fullness against which the Parisian women will undoubtedly rebel.

The military note is strong among the street costumes of Paris. The two and three cornered hats of Napoleon made their way first, then followed all manner of garments carrying the insignia of battle, or at least

ST. LOUIS HARDWARE HOUSE MAKES REMARKABLE GAIN IN SALES—Norvell-Shapleigh Hardware company of St. Louis increased their sales in 1909 over 1908, $1,520,163.18. As hardware sales are always an index of trade conditions it is evident that prosperity has returned. Probably no other hardware jobber in the country has made such an unusual record in sales. The Norvell-Shapleigh company attribute their large gain in sales to an aggressive selling campaign, backed up by good service in the house in the way of prompt shipments and complete billing of orders. Their house motto is—"Diamond Edge is a Quality Pledge."

SHOES MAY COST MORE.—Boston, Jan. 15.—The question of a readjustment of shoe prices, made necessary by the recent tariff changes and the increased costs of production was discussed at a big conference of shoe and leather men, held at the Somerset Hotel today under the auspices of the National Shoe Wholesalers' Association of the United States. The conference was attended by several hundred representative shoe manufacturers, dealers and salesmen from all parts of the country.

Thomas E. Linder of Chandlerville was in the city on business yesterday.

MOVING PICTURES

A Remarkable Exhibition of Heathen Lands Will be Given at Central Christian Church on Next Thursday.

The genius of Edison has at last been brought under tribute to the world-wide missionary enterprise. The Christian church is to have a striking exhibition of heathen life through the medium of moving pictures. These moving picture films have been secured by the Foreign Christian Missionary society, and will be shown in connection with the missionary rally and institute on Thursday, Jan. 20. Two years ago a deputation was sent around the world to secure these pictures. These men traveled in Africa, India, China and Japan. They secured the moving pictures under great difficulties.

These moving pictures bring the customs and the awful need of these far away lands before the very eyes of the people. Scenes of idols and idol worship are shown. Strange people at work and play. The victories of Christians are pictured widely. In connection with the moving pictures, many stereopticon slides will also be shown, exhibiting various phases of heathen life and missionary work around the world.

Two years ago the Young People's Missionary movement, the organization first securing these pictures, gave an exhibition of them in Baltimore. The largest theater in the city was secured, seventy-five cents was charged and three thousand people attended. This shows the popularity of these pictures.

The foreign society of the Christian church is bringing these scenes before the churches. This will be a rare opportunity for the people of the city. No admission will be charged. A voluntary offering will be taken. This is to pay the expense of the exhibitions from place to place, and of the expert who has charge of the machine. This moving picture machine is the best that can be purchased. Many fine stereopticon views will likewise be shown in the lecture.

The rally will begin at 10 a. m. and continue throughout the day. Several missionaries home on a furlough will be present. The church walls will be covered with maps and charts. The largest collection of curios ever seen here will be shown. The most interesting part of the rally will be during the day. The public is cordially invited to attend.

CORPSE ON TENTPOLE DANGLES THREE DAYS.

Jack Ferry, Farm Hand, Near Pleasant Plains Ends Life By Hanging Self From Nail With Window Cord.

After hanging for three days from a tent pole near a sawmill camp, on the farm of Jack Ferry, two miles east of Pleasant Plains, the dead body of W. S. Naler, was discovered at 11 o'clock Friday morning.

The man had evidently hung himself with a window cord which he attached from a nail in the tent pole. Pulled down by the weight of the body, the pole had bent allowing the man's feet to touch the ground. Naler was last seen alive Monday, by C. A. Settles, for whom he has been working since last June.

Decedent was about 45 years old and is survived by a mother and sister, residing in southern Missouri. The remains were taken to the undertaking establishment of W. S. Hensley, where they will be held until the relatives can be heard from.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES

Mr. W. J. Owen, the Shakespearean actor gave a very interesting talk to the students of Illinois College at the chapel exercises Friday morning. Mr. Owen sketched briefly the evolution of the theatre and emphasized especially its origin from the fundamental instincts of mankind.

President Rammelkamp returned to the campus on Thursday morning from a business trip to Chicago.

Rev. R. F. Thrapp gave a very interesting address to the students of the college on Tuesday morning. He took for his subject "What is Man that Thou are Mindful of him."

The friends of professor J. M. Clapp, formerly of the Illinois College faculty and now professor of English at Lake Forest, will regret to learn that in the recent cold weather he froze two of his fingers. It is reported that it may be necessary to amputate one of the fingers.

Professor W. O. Beal of the department of mathematics will speak to the students next Tuesday morning.

President and Mrs. Rammelkamp entertained the members of the faculties of the various departments at an informal supper Thursday evening.

TAG DAY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Tag Day association, or as it is technically called, the Jacksonville Hospital Aid association, is called for Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Jan. 17, at rooms of the Business Men's association. The purpose of the meeting is the laying of plans for the caring of the sick poor during the coming year. It will be remembered that this association is composed of two men from each church and this association is an entirely distinct body from the hospital board. A full attendance is requested.

ALTON CASE PROPER FOR FEDERAL COURT.

Judge Humphrey Rules Body Has Jurisdiction Over Suit of Murdered Woman's Children Against Twenty-five Saloonkeepers.

Judge Humphrey of the United States District court ruled the court had jurisdiction in the suit of Gertrude and Mildred Hayes against John Kelly and twenty four other saloonkeepers of Alton. The mother of the plaintiffs was killed by their father, while under the influence of liquor, and suit for damages was brought. Objections were made by the defendants to the right of the court to hear the case. Judge Humphrey will probably hear the case next week.

The case of Lawson-Baker Manufacturing company of Omaha against the Decatur Ice Cream company occupied the attention of the court yesterday, but will probably be completed today.

THE NEW ART IN SINGING.

"In the musical world of to-day we are face to face with some hard, cold facts which are not a little revolutionary. One is that a majority of our artists are unable to sing the modern dramatic repertoire without rapidly impairing their voices," writes Victor Maurel, himself an operatic baritone of note, in the Van Norden Magazine.

"Time was when we applauded earnestly the fat and middle aged Violettas who died of consumption before the final curtain and who sang up to the last gasp, with amazing lung power; when mad Lucia's brainstorm to flute accompaniment failed to reach our sense of the ridiculous; when we accepted with equanimity a fat tenor or an ancient prima donna as a sprightly Mozartean soubrette.

"In the old operas, vocal agility rather than dramatic expression was the chief consideration. Therefore the old vocal method produced vocalists only. That is all it can produce. Hence the singing puppets who vocalize coolly through the fervid dramatic roles of the modern repertoire. On the other hand, when these singers attempt the violence of dramatic vocal utterance, for which their training has not prepared them, their voices break under the unaccustomed strain.

"It is in the beginning of a pupil's vocal studies that the sense of vocal color and the mastery of it should be inculcated. There is a pathological reason for this. In the placement of the voice, only plasticity and evenness of tone are cultivated, the muscles of the tongue, lips and throat are trained to respond only to mental stimuli suggesting plasticity and evenness. The unconscious muscular contractions which go on continually during singing, become habituated to nothing else. Now, if later on, new mental stimuli pertaining to color are generated and are then communicated to the vocal muscular area, we will have what might be called vocal cross currents. A burned out vocal circuit is the likely result.

"If, on the contrary, the delicate muscular vocal apparatus is trained simultaneously to evenness, plasticity and mastery of color in all its forms—gay, tragic, sensuous or sad—a perfect muscular coordination will be achieved. And through this coordination—which I hold should be the name of the New Art in Singing, the artist will find himself possessed of a new form of Bel Canto—a Bel Canto that will stand the strain and meet every requirement of the modern operatic repertoire—that will prove as serviceable for the strenuousities of Wagner or Puccini as for the frothy effervescence of Rossini or Donizetti."—Victor Maurel in Van Norden Magazine.

CLASS ATTENDS PLAY.

Several members of the senior class of the Waverly high school were in the city Friday evening to attend "The Merchant of Venice" at the Grand. Among those in the party were Fred Zoll, Oliver Bateman, Charles Flannigan and Miss Maud Miller.

On account of repairs made on engine, the north bound local freight train No. 28 on the C. & St. J. did not run yesterday. The force at the shops are working as fast as possible to turn the work out and the engine will be in shape to continue service by Monday.

TAG DAY FOR HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION

Annual Event Proved Successful in Every Way and the Sum of $679.00 Was Gathered by the Efficient Solicitors—Northminster Church Gathered Largest Amount, $185.41, With Mrs. Lena Frye Highest Individual Amount of $70.67.

Tag day has come and gone and notwithstanding the cold which kept many people from the country as well as in the city, off the streets, the day was successful in every way and when the funds were counted at 9 o'clock a sum total of $679 was in the treasury for the Hospital Aid association.

Remembering the old story of "the early bird catches the worm," the ladies were out upon the streets as citizens were hastening down town to open their stores and all were properly tagged. One thing noticeable throughout the day was the kindly manner in which the solicitors were treated; and while some were not able to contribute a large amount others gave freely, buying tags from several who carried the badges and banks.

In order to facilitate matters the city was divided into four sections and the solicitors for the various churches were satisfactorily distributed. The plan worked admirably. All over the city the young ladies could be seen stopping passersby and even a pilgrimage was made to the car shops and the various passenger stations were not overlooked for the traveling men were very willing to contribute toward so worthy a fund. As everyone is aware the money collected belongs to the Hospital Aid association, which has for its governing body two members from each of the Protestant churches of the city. The money is for the sick poor and for free beds at the institution. Part of the funds of last year went toward helping Albert Lee, the lad who suffered the loss of both legs in an accident at Roodhouse, and others worthy of assistance have not been overlooked. Rev. J. W. Eltzholz, president of the association and the able solicitors are deserving of every praise and their efforts yesterday were satisfactory in every way. While a list is given of those who were appointed as solicitors, others did excellent work and many of the banks which were handed in contained money collected by two individuals.

At the close of the day's work the banks were taken to F. E. Farrell's bank, where the funds were counted and put in the safe. The count showed that Northminster church solicitors had collected the largest amount, $185.41, and that Mrs. Lena Frye of that church had secured the largest single amount, $70.67, and that the sum total was $679.

Mrs. Frye received a five pound box of candy promised by the committee for securing the largest amount. The committee feel more than grateful to everyone who so kindly contributed and for all who assisted in any way to make the day the success it proved to be.

The following is the contribution by churches and the highest individual collection in each church:

Virgil Edwards was host to a party of young friends at his home on South East street Saturday evening, being assisted by Charles Nichols and Leland Crum. During the early part of the evening games and music was enjoyed and later an excellent oyster supper was served. At a late hour all departed, vowing the affair a complete success.

The Wednesday class will meet with Mrs. L. W. Chambers this week.

INITIAL MEETING

New Catholic Church at Alexander Ready for Worship Today—Edifice Is Beautiful Within and Without.

To day at 10 o'clock the Catholics of Alexander will hold the initial meeting in their new church. The first service will be a mass and in charge of Rev. Father Weigand of New Berlin.

The building was started last April and has just been completed so that services can be held. It is a magnificent edifice and when completed entirely will cost $12,000. The outer walls are firmly constructed of brick and stone and the roof is covered with slate. Inside the pews are beautifully finished oak and the wall and ceiling decorations are in the hands of a capable Chicago firm and when finished will be handsome additions to the interior. The church will also be equipped with a pipe organ, which will not be installed until a later date.

Work has already begun in organizing a choir, but as this takes considerable time it will not be formed until later. The church will not be formally dedicated until the early spring, but until that time mass will be held every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, in charge of Rev. Father Weigand, who will officiate until a regular priest is secured.

CARD OF THANKS.

We take this method of thanking the many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and after the death of husband and father and for the beautiful flowers. We wish also to thank the members of the Odd Fellows lodge for sympathy and helpfulness shown. Mrs. David Livingston. And Family.

SUFFERED PAINFUL INJURY.

William Widmayer received a cut of a most painful nature while sharpening a circular meat saw at his shop Saturday evening. In some manner his hand was caught in the knife and the back and side of his left hand was badly lacerated. Dr. Allen M. King was summoned and dressed the wound, which, while not serious, is very painful.

COMMUNION SERVICE.

Communion services will characterize the exercises at Northminster church this morning.

WAS BURNING FLUE.

A burning flue at the residence of William A. Bancroft on Park street was the cause of an alarm turned in to the fire department shortly after 10 o'clock Saturday night. Before the firemen arrived, however, they were notified that their services would not be needed.

IN SOCIETY

The Young Ladies' Circle of the Lynnville Christian church delightfully entertained Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon in honor of Miss Mabel Ranson, who is soon to marry Herbert Watson of Franklin.

The affair was in the nature of a novelty shower and the bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful and appreciative presents. The guests included about fifty intimate friends of the young lady and a delightful evening was spent in playing of various games and a musical program. Decorations of green and white were in evidence in the rooms and were further carried out in the elaborate menu.

Noah Wright has returned from a visit with his uncle, Bassil Wright in Girard. Mr. Wright is 92 years old and is suffering from an attack of la grippe, but is getting along nicely.

Frances Ricks, noble grand, and Mrs. Mary Kinney, treasurer, were among the officers installed at the Rebekah installation of officers Friday night.

The naval recruiting station which has been located at the court house for the past two weeks, closed Saturday night. Mr. Edwards, who has been in charge, will leave this evening for Springfield.

The south side store of L. C. & F. E. Henry is being remodeled and painted anew, making a very substantial improvement.

NEW GARAGE IS COMPLETED

Jacksonville Automobile Company
Has Storage Room For Fifty Cars
—Expert Mechanic Has Been Secured.

The Jacksonville Automobile company has at a great expense secured the services of H. E. Burns, an expert mechanic and electrician, for repair work at their garage on East State street. Mr. Burns was formerly manager of the gasoline department of the White Steamer company in Chicago and is a man of wide experience in the motor car line. Under his direction the most efficient service is assured.

The company is composed of twelve business men of this city, all of whom own cars. In their garage they have a storage capacity for fifty cars and carry a full line of automobile supplies. At present they have in their display room seven new 1910 models, representing such makes as the White Steamer, Chalmers Detroit and Maxwell, and in a few days will receive the latest models in the Studebaker E. F. M. and the Studebaker Flanders 20-horse power cars. The new garage is worthy a visit of inspection whether or not the visitor is a car enthusiast.

A GOOD TIME TO BUY.
Wool underwear, heavy fleece and ribbed cotton goods at a saving, to lay away for future needs at the prices we will make in our clean-up sale, commencing Thursday, Jan. 20.
Brook & Stice.

Little Miss Anna Bernice Rice, west of the city, is visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rice of Finlay street.

DEATH RECORD

McKenna.

Mrs. Margaret McKenna, aged 81 years, died Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at the residence of her son, Frank McKenna, on East State street after a three weeks' illness with a complication of diseases. Mrs. McKenna resided in Jerseyville, but had been visiting with her son in this city.

Deceased was born in County Clare, Ireland, in 1828, and came to this country in 1840, settling in Jerseyville, where she has since resided. Her husband, Bartholomew McKenna, preceded her in death twenty years ago. She is survived by four sons, Frank of this city, John of Keys Port, and Harry and Thomas of St. Louis; and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Hill of Jerseyville. She was a devout member of the Catholic church and had many friends who will learn of her death with sorrow.

The remains will be taken to Jerseyville this morning at 9:55 o'clock via the C. & A. The funeral will probably be held at the St. Francis Xavier Catholic church at that place Monday. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

FUNERALS.

Livingston.

Funeral services for David Livingston were held at the late residence, 915 North Church street, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The service was the regular Episcopal burial ceremony and was in charge of Rev. Mr. Mitchell, pastor of Trinity Episcopal church. Rev. Mr. Mitchell gave brief address and paid a glowing tribute to the life of the deceased.

A quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, Miss Frances Harlowe and J. G. Ames, sang the hymns "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Rock of Ages."

There were a large number of beautiful flowers, the gifts of friends and these were kindly cared for by Misses Grace Rogers, Loretta Harmon and Rose McCarthy.

Interment was made in Diamond Grove cemetery, the services at the grave being in charge of the Odd Fellows, of which the deceased was a member. John Minter acting as chaplain and Thomas Hughes noble grand. The commitment service was in charge of Rev. Mr. Mitchell. The bearers were W. C. Howe, Matthew Minter, Asa Robinson, Mark Robinson, George Moore and H. E. Rebye, all members of the order of Odd Fellows.

Among those from out of the city to attend the services were Mrs. Frank De Silva of Bloomington and Charles Charlton of Pekin.

BARGAINS. BARGAINS.

It is easier to move dollars than books, and in order to reduce our stock as much as possible before we go to our new quarters Feb. 1st, we are going to offer some very attractive bargains until that time.

DR. J. E. PRATHER DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Well Known Physician of Winchester and Prominent in Social and Lodge Circles Succumbs to Disease—In Last Election Was Defeated For Mayor by One Vote.

J. E. Prather, a prominent physician of Winchester, Scott county, died Saturday morning at the home of George Hart near Oxville at 12:15 o'clock, death resulting from pneumonia. About a year ago Dr. Prather suffered an attack of this disease and since that time never fully regained his former robust constitution. It is thought that while riding to visit his patients he was exposed and was in a serious condition before he realized his illness.

Mr. Prather was 43 years of age and was born in Cumberland county, where he spent his childhood days among the White Hills. It was there he received his early schooling and after graduating, taught for a number of years. In 1891 he graduated from the Northern Iowa Normal school at Keokuk and in 1896 graduated from the School of Physicians and Surgeons at St. Louis, after which he removed to Glasgow, where he practiced medicine for a number of years and in 1902 located in Winchester, where he lived until his death. It was there by his sterling qualities he made the staunchest friends of his life. His practice was large and not confined to his home town but extended over the entire county of Scott, where he was honored and respected by all who knew him. He was a citizen of the first order and was always a ready and willing worker in all enterprises pertaining to the welfare of his home town. In the last election he was a candidate for mayor on the temperance ticket and was defeated by one vote. Largely identified with fraternities, he was a member of the Odd Fellows, Redmen, K. of P. and Woodmen lodges, the Scott County Medical society, the Illinois Medical society and the American Medical association.

Fifteen years ago he was married to Mary Baker, who precedes him in death, and from this union one child, Inez, was born, who survives. In 1902 he was married to Katie D. Cumvey, who with one child, Janice, survive; also three brothers, Louis of Havana, Matthew and Adolph of Champaign, and three sisters, Mrs. Nettie McGinnis of McKune, Kan., Mrs. Josie Abram of Cairo and Mrs. Dollie Neal of Toledo.

The funeral services will be held from the late residence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. Mr. Sykes, pastor of the Methodist church, and interment will be made in Winchester cemetery.

DEBATERS CHOSEN.

Quincy Names Representatives to Meet Jacksonville in High School Contest.

The Quincy high school held its preliminary debate Friday evening to select a team to represent that school in the debate with the local high school. Lee Ellermeyer, Miss Grace Foreman and Elwood Lewis, with Miss Emily Landon as alternate, will compose the team from the Gem city. The Quincy representatives are going to put forth a strenuous effort to retain the honors won from Jacksonville in previous years. The local high school is already diligently at work in preparation for the contest, which will be held in the Jacksonville high school auditorium Friday evening, Feb. 25.

DOMESTIC ROUND TABLE.

The Domestic Round Table met with Mrs. H. L. Griswold Saturday afternoon, at her home on West State street, with a large attendance. Mrs. David Reid gave a very interesting talk on "The Increased Cost of Living." The talk was a study of the causes of the increase and she gave a number of probable remedies. Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed when light refreshments were served.

New white goods department just opened; splendid values in India linens, dimities, Persian lawns, linens, nainsooks, flaxons, lykelinens, welts, plaques, English longcloths, etc.

BUICK

Funny, isn't it, how many dealers will make all sorts of CLAIMS for their cars and try to make the public believe that they have the only car. Now, there are lots of good Automobiles made, but what Automobile has the record that stands pre-eminently above all other American makes?

What car is it that has won 154 firsts in competitive tests the past year. thet made the highest rate of speed ever recorded in a road race, 72 miles an hour for 113 miles at Lowell, Mass?

What car won the Los Angeles-Phoenix race of 500 miles ove the desert sands in competition with cars costing two and three times as much money?

What touring car holds the record for the Pasadena-Altadena hill climb?

What car was driven from New York to Seattle, then to San Diego by Dr. T. C. Treadwell?
